

Healthy ears for kids in childcare

Little kids need healthy ears to listen and learn.
These are signs that children may have hearing loss.

Click yes or no.

Insert your own pictures of the child here.

Signs that kids in childcare may have hearing loss:	Yes	No
Does not talk much	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Do they use actions and point more?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Do they take longer to tell things?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Do you often need to call out loud to get their attention?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Do they like to do things their own way?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Do they sit close to TV or music?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Are they hard to understand?	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Remember! Kids may have listening problems...
*if they have sore or runny ears right now.
if they get sore or runny ears a lot.
if they get a runny nose a lot.
if they have to take medicine for sick ears a lot.*

Ticked more orange boxes?
Recommend the child be taken to the clinic for a check-up.

